II. Summary of Business Plan for 2026

(I) Operating Policies

The Company leverages its core patented technology platform, the Crosslinked Hyaluronic Acid Platform (CHAP), together with the dual patents for the "Method for Manufacturing Autocrosslinked Hyaluronic Acid Gel and Product Thereof," as the foundation for developing four major product categories: aesthetic medicine, elderly care, surgical applications, and urological systems. The Company continues to focus on innovative research and development to create products with both competitiveness and commercial value. In addition to maintaining its leading position in the Taiwan market, the Company is actively expanding into domestic and overseas markets to advance its global presence.

(II) Projected Sales Volume, Basis Thereof, and Major Production and Sales Policies

The Company has entered into distribution agreements with domestic and overseas customers. Business plans are estimated based on customers' delivery schedules, the progress of marketing activities, and historical production and sales performance. The management team formulates overall objectives and strategies, including specific plans for research and development, production, and sales, and implements them accordingly to achieve the established goals.

III. Future Development Strategies of the Company

The Company integrates innovative capabilities in advanced biomedical materials with its core CHAP hyaluronic acid patented technology platform, the patents for the "Method for Manufacturing Autocrosslinked Hyaluronic Acid Gel and Product Thereof," and the "Method for Manufacturing Crosslinked Hyaluronic Acid Gel Containing Triamcinolone and Crosslinked Hyaluronic Acid Gel" to create next-generation technologies and service applications. Meanwhile, the Company continues to accumulate extensive experience in manufacturing and quality assurance management to provide customers with diversified niche products and value-added services, thereby strengthening the depth and breadth of cooperation.

IV. Impact of External Competitive Environment, Regulatory Environment, and Overall Economic Environment

(I) External Competitive Environment

In recent years, the Company has faced intensifying competition from domestic and international manufacturers, as well as shrinking profit margins resulting from tighter reimbursement pricing under Taiwan's National Health Insurance system. In response, the Company has developed next-generation products, including Createfill/Fuyanmei implants (PLLA) and GIOVANIS subdermal implants (PCL), which are collagen-stimulating products. In addition to the Taiwan market, the Company has also expanded into overseas markets. In establishing new technology platforms, the Company has obtained three major exclusive patents to raise technological barriers, enhance competitiveness, and achieve the goals of technological diversification, market globalization, and product diversification.

(II) Regulatory Environment

With the implementation of the new European Union Medical Device Regulation (MDR), regulatory requirements for medical device management in Europe have become increasingly stringent, accelerating industry consolidation and intensifying competition among medical device manufacturers worldwide. The Company possesses an experienced regulatory affairs team with extensive expertise in product registration and approval in various countries. Appropriate response measures are adopted in accordance with regulatory changes to minimize the impact of changes in the regulatory environment. In April 2026, the Company's hyaluronic acid subdermal fillers successfully passed the EU MDR review, making the Company the first manufacturer in Taiwan to obtain MDR certification for subdermal filler products. This achievement signifies successful entry into the high-standard MDR compliance threshold. It is also expected to accelerate the acquisition of EU MDR certification for the Company's other products and provide new momentum for expansion into international markets.

(III) Overall Economic Environment

Taiwan's overall economic environment has demonstrated strong capabilities and high competitiveness, particularly in key sectors such as technology and manufacturing. Nevertheless, Taiwan also faces challenges including demographic transformation, global geopolitical changes, and climate change. In recent years, dramatic changes in the international landscape and global economic instability have affected consumer demand for discretionary aesthetic medical products. However, in the long term, trends such as global population aging and improving living standards are expected to increase the proportion of healthcare and aesthetic medicine expenditures relative to GDP, thereby supporting the growth of the biotechnology industry.

Best regards.

We conducted our audits in accordance with the Regulations Governing Auditing and Attestation of Financial Statements by Certified Public Accountants and the Standards of Auditing of the Republic of China. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Parent Company Only Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Company in accordance with the Norm of Professional Ethics of Certified Public Accountants of the Republic of China and have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. Based on our audits and the audit reports of other auditors, we believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Key Audit Matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most signifi-cance in our audit of the parent company only financial statements of the Company for the year ended December 31, 2025. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the parent company only financial statements as a whole, and in forming our audit opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

Revenue Recognition

The primary business activities of the Company involve the research, development, manufacturing, and sales of hyaluronic acid and related application products. Revenue from sales is significantly affected by regulatory requirements and serves as a key indicator for evaluating the Company's financial or operational performance. Therefore, there is a significant risk regarding the accuracy of the timing and amount of revenue recognition, and we identified revenue recognition as a key audit matter.

Our audit procedures included, but were not limited to, understanding and testing the design and operating effectiveness of internal controls over the sales and collection cycle; examining supporting documents for sales revenue, including contracts, customer orders, and shipping documents; reviewing key terms of the orders or contracts to identify performance obligations, price allocation, and the point in time when performance obligations are satisfied to assess the appropriateness of revenue recognition timing; selecting sales transactions from a specific period around the balance sheet date and verifying supporting documentation to confirm proper cutoff; and performing analytical procedures by product to identify any significant anomalies.

We also considered the adequacy of the revenue disclosures in Note (6) to the parent company only financial statements.

Other Matters – Reference to the Audit of Other Auditors

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged with Governance for the Parent Company Only Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the parent company only financial statements in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers, and for maintaining the necessary internal controls relevant to the preparation of parent company only financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the parent company only financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing matters related to going concern as applicable, and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance of the Company are responsible for overseeing the Company's financial reporting process.

Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Parent Company Only Financial State-ments

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the parent company only financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an audit report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with auditing standards will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these parent company only financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with auditing standards, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also perform the following:

1. Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the parent company only financial statements, whether due to fraud or error; design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks; and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than that resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
2. Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.
3. Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
4. Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditors' report to the related disclosures in the parent company only financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditors' report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
5. Evaluate the overall presentation, structure, and content of the parent company only financial statements (including the disclosures), and whether the parent company only financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
6. Obtain sufficient and appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the entities or business activities within the Group to express an opinion on the parent company only financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision, and performance of the audit of the investees included in the parent company only financial statements. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the parent company only financial statements of SciVision Biotech Inc. for the year ended December 31, 2025, and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditors' report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

The Board of Directors and Shareholders
SciVision Biotech Inc.

Opinion

We have audited the consolidated balance sheets of SciVision Biotech Inc. and its subsidiaries (the "Group") as of December 31, 2025 and 2024, and the related consolidated statements of comprehensive income, changes in equity, and cash flows for the years then ended, as well as the notes to the consolidated financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies.

In our opinion, based on our audits and the audit reports of other auditors (please refer to the Other Matters section), the accompanying consolidated financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the consolidated financial position of the Group as of December 31, 2025 and 2024, and its consolidated financial performance and its consolidated cash flows for the years then ended, in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers and the International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS), International Accounting Standards (1AS), IFRIC Interpretations (IFRIC), and SIC Interpretations (SIC) endorsed and issued into effect by the Financial Supervisory Commission of the Republic of China.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audits in accordance with the Regulations Governing Auditing and Attestation of Financial Statements by Certified Public Accountants and the Standards of Auditing of the Republic of China. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Group in accordance with the Norm of Professional Ethics of Certified Public Accountants of the Republic of China and have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. Based on our audits and the audit reports of other auditors, we believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Key Audit Matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the consolidated financial statements of the Group for the year ended December 31, 2024. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the consolidated financial statements as a whole, and in forming our audit opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

Revenue Recognition

The primary business activities of the Group involve the research, development, manufacturing, and sales of hyaluronic acid and related application products. Revenue from sales is significantly affected by regulatory requirements and serves as a key indicator for evaluating the Group's financial or operational performance. Therefore, there is a significant risk regarding the accuracy of the timing and amount of revenue recognition, and we identified revenue recognition as a key audit matter.

Our audit procedures included, but were not limited to, understanding and testing the design and operating effectiveness of internal controls over the sales and collection cycle; examining supporting documents for sales revenue, including contracts, customer orders, and shipping documents; reviewing key terms of the orders or contracts to identify performance obligations, price allocation, and the point in time when performance obligations are satisfied to assess the appropriateness of revenue recognition timing; selecting sales transactions from a specific period around the balance sheet date and verifying supporting documentation to confirm proper cutoff; and performing analytical procedures by product to identify any significant anomalies.

We also considered the adequacy of the revenue disclosures in Note (6) to the consolidated financial statements.

Other Matters – Reference to the Audit of Other Auditors

The financial statements of CANDACE BIOMEDICAL INC., included in the consolidated financial statements of the Group, were not audited by us but by other auditors. Accordingly, our opinion expressed herein, insofar as it relates to the amounts included for CANDACE BIOMEDICAL INC., is based solely on the report of the other auditors. The total assets of CANDACE BIOMEDICAL INC. as of December 31, 2025 amounted to NT$263,180 thousand, representing 9.86% of the consolidated total assets, and its operating revenue for the year ended December 31, 2025 amounted to NT$66,916 thousand, representing 7.55% of the consolidated operating revenue.

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged with Governance for the Consolidated Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers, and the International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS), International Accounting Standards (IAS), IFRIC Interpretations (IFRIC), and SIC Interpretations (SIC) endorsed and issued into effect by the Financial Supervisory Commission of the Republic of China, and for maintaining the necessary internal controls relevant to the preparation of consolidated financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the consolidated financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Group's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing matters related to going concern as applicable, and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Group or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance of the Group are responsible for overseeing the Group's financial reporting process.

Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an audit report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with auditing standards will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these consolidated financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with auditing standards, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also perform the following:

1. Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error; design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks; and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than that resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
2. Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Group's internal control.
3. Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
4. Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Group's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditors' report to the related disclosures in the consolidated financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditors' report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Group to cease to continue as a going concern.
5. Evaluate the overall presentation, structure, and content of the consolidated financial statements (including the disclosures), and whether the consolidated financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
6. Obtain sufficient and appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the entities or business activities within the Group to express an opinion on the consolidated financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision, and performance of the audit of the investees included in the consolidated financial statements. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the consolidated financial statements of SciVision Biotech Inc. for the year ended December 31, 2025, and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditors' report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

Others

SciVision Biotech Inc. has also prepared its parent company only financial statements for the years ended December 31, 2025 and 2024, for which we have issued an unmodified opinion with an Other Matters paragraph, for reference.
